

Sample Document

A three-page PDF for trying pdfcraft ai's tools.

This file exists so you can try any tool without finding a PDF of your own. It has three pages, headings, paragraphs, a small table, and page numbers — enough to exercise counting, splitting, rotating, watermarking, text extraction, and most of the other tools in the catalogue.

Everything you do here runs in your browser. Files are processed on your device and are not uploaded to a server.

Section Two

Structure for the tools to work with.

Use this page to test splitting out a single page, deleting a page, or extracting text. The paragraphs below are plain prose so a text export comes out clean and readable.

A short table follows, so table-aware tools have something to find:

Item	Qty	Status
Invoice	12	Filed
Receipt	30	Pending
Contract	3	Signed

Section Three

The last page.

This is the final page. Counting tools should report three pages; a split into single files should produce three; merging this with another file should append cleanly after page three.

When you're ready, swap this sample for your own document — the tool works exactly the same way.
